764 & THE COM NETWORK

764 is a decentralized, online nihilistic violent extremist (NVE) network that emerged in 2021 as part of the “Com” ecosystem—a loosely connected constellation of online subcultures united by cybercrime, sextortion, and the glorification of extreme violence. 764’s aesthetic and symbolism draw heavily from far-right esoteric groups, like Order of Nine Angles, Temple ov Blood, and Maniac Murder Cult, that fuse Satanism and occultism with neo-Nazi accelerationism. 764 and its offshoots frame child exploitation, sexual violence, self-harm, and extreme animal cruelty as ways to degrade moral structures and hasten societal collapse. The network is intertwined with the most extreme fringes of the True Crime Community (TCC) and gore/snuff subcultures, which provide 764’s followers with the mass-shooter iconography, “Saints” culture, and shock aesthetics that drive its online identity and recruitment, particularly among minors.

KEY INSIGHTS

The Emergence of Nihilistic Violent Extremism

2016–2020

Atomwaffen & the Siege Era —

Rooted in James Mason's Siege, Atomwaffen pursued accelerationism as a means to an end: collapse society to build a White ethnostate from the ashes. Violence was ideologically purposeful, directed at specific targets to hasten that collapse.

2021–2023

Satanic Nihilism Takes Over —

Where Atomwaffen sought a new order, groups like O9A embraced esoteric militancy. Violence and exploitation became ends in themselves—committed for shock, transgression, group bonding, and personal satisfaction above any ideological objective.

2024–2026

Children as Victims and Recruits —

764 and its offshoots fully embrace nihilism. Their defining tactic is exploiting vulnerable youth online, coercing them into producing violent or sexual content and binding them through blackmail. Victimization, radicalization, and mobilization are now part of the same process, with schools emerging as the locus of physical violence.
